S. DISTRIBUTIVE CATION CLASS

Phelps, from the Appomattox School Distributive Education class the local club's delegation of the fifteenth annual Virginia Association of the Distributive Clubs of America held at the Marshall Hotel in Richmond March 9-11.

The opening session Sunday when the students heard Miss Lois of RPI speak on "This Generation. On Monday a panel of opportunities in Small Business" was held with the following as panel members, Mr. W. S. Hancock, Jr., Vice-President, Peebles Corporation, Lawrenceville; Mr. Ralph Brady, Director, School of Business Extension, RPI; Mr. Frank C. Calhoun, Owner Western Auto Associate Store, Waynesboro; and Mr. Robert B. Meacham, moderator, District Manager Dan and Bradstreet, Inc. After the panel discussion, the group broke into committees. On Monday the committees reported to a general session. Monady evening the girls hear Miss Katherine Lee of RPI, speak on "It's A Big World" and the boys heard Mr. Bruce Cecil, Marketing Assistant Penn Petroleum Institute, speak on "Opportunities in Petroleum Marchandising." A banquet in the Marshall Hotel in the evening was the highlight of the convention with annual awards luncheon on Tuesday after the students had tour-ed different stores. During this time honorary membership awards in Distributive Education of America were presented to Miss Hibbs, Provost, RPI; Mr. Robert B. Meacham, District Manager, Dun and Bradstreet, and Miss Ann Bernard, State Supervisor of Distributive Education. It was during the luncheon that Appomattox won two trophies.

One trophy was for the district winner in the Honor Club Contest. To receive this honor the Appomattox Club had an installation, initiation, and emblem ceremony in an assembly program; had eight professional club meetings of which six were local businessmen as speakers; staged a fashion show to assist local ready-to-wear merchants; did a radio spring show; appeared before the Appomattox Lions Club and Appomatox Jaycees; last spring held an employer-employee banquet; sponsored the U. S. School Savings Program for which an award was won; assisted with the customer survey; had two article printed in "The Distributor," national DECA magazine; host club to district convention, participated in district and state contests, had two recreational activities, had a social for the county teachers, had an alumni meeting, and made a follow-up survey of last year's DE graduates.

The other trophy was one of 9 won by clubs in the state and was for the Outstanding Club Project award. This award is made to a club in the state which carries out the most important outstanding professional project in terms of its value to the community, DE program and club members. The Appomattox Chapter's project was, "Operation: Career Planning." In this project the club co-sponsored "Career Day," "College Day," and a career bulletin board in the cafeteria.

The local club is quite proud of these awards as there are 74 DE Clubs in the state. The local club is also appreciative of the businessmen in the community, the faculty of the high school, the local civic clubs, and local newspaper for their cooperation which helped to make these honors possible.

Appomattox is a growing town.

BEAUTY PAGEANT HERE APRIL 25

Roanoke, Va., (Special) Candidates for the title of "Miss Virginia" for 1958 will compete here in June not only for that beauty and talent crown, but for $3,000.00 in scholarship, a $2,000.00 wardrobe, and use of a brand-new automobile for a year. In addition, there will be numerous personal appearances throughout the state in 1958-59 which will take the place of employment if she is a career girl.

Of course, "Miss Virginia" also goes on to Atlantic City to compete for the title of "Miss America" and all of the glamorous awards which go with the national crown.

The scholarship announcement, never before offered to Miss Virginia contestants, was made today by Mrs. C. Houston Clements, Director of the Miss Virginia Pageant, sponsored by the Roanoke Valley Junior Woman's Club. The club sponsors the Miss Virginia competition annually at Hotel Roanoke.

Sponsored jointly by the Junior Woman's Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the contest to select the "Miss Appomattox" entry in this pageant, will be held at the H. S. auditorium April 25. Entries are now being lined up by a committee headed by Mrs. Dot Davidson.
